

and paid 70 cents until the cut was made in Pennsylvania and the miners voluntarily agreed to work at 50 cents. Mr. Waters states further that the Wheeling Creek mines paid the men cash during the money stringency, when the Hocking Valley and other operators paid their miners in sixty days' script; that Wheeling Creek has never had a company store, and does not intend to open one, has never had but one strike and has never had any previous trouble with the employees. The only strike was six years ago. The Wheeling Creek mines employ over 500 men.

The statement of Mr. Waters was corroborated by W. R. Woodford, president of the coal company, and James Patterson, the sales agent.

Mr. Patterson had just returned from the Fairmont region, where 700 or 800 cars are shipped daily. The miners are working steadily, making good wages and would fight before they would be driven out. These operators put the price of coal from 45 cents to $1.75 per ton and pay the miners 40 cents, run of mine, long ton.

Capt. Edward Schlesinger, who went to Columbus with four deputies on Wednesday evening, returned last evening. These men took the four prisoners and had no trouble.

Sheriff M. M. Scott and deputies G. W. Smith and J. B. Smith were on the ground yesterday.

Capt. John Schofield and Capt. W. E. Bennett, of Cincinnati, had charge of the U. S. deputies during the absence of Capt. Edward Schlesinger. These gentlemen have had much experience. Each has arrested some of the toughest characters in the country and have both been shot at a hundred times. Capt. Schofield was never shot but once. He carries a pair of fine handcuffs, presented to him by Mr. Moorhead, of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, and has a beautiful gold badge, also a present.

The first coal train on the C. & L. & W. was at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. There were thirty cars and the engines were 45 and 14. Others went out later in the day, the first for several days.

Three different attempts were made yesterday to burn the W. & L. E. station at Sherrillville. The 16th Ohio regiment was sent there, coming to Bridgeport, and going thence by way of Martin's Ferry and the W. & L. E. road.

GUARDING AGAINST TROUBLE.

The B. & O. Exercises Vigilance on the Pittsburgh Division.

The Baltimore & Ohio Company has adopted safeguards against damage to its tracks or other property by law-breakers. Last evening all the switches on its Pittsburgh division, in this country, were spiked down, so that the switches could not be thrown open and trains wrecked, without much labor on the part of the rioters.

In addition to this precaution a trouble guard was maintained at the tunnel in East Wheeling and at all other points where grave damage might be done.

A prominent official of the company said last night to an Intelligencer reporter that there had been rumors of impending trouble along the Pittsburgh division of the road, but not in this country. Out about Finleyville there was supposed to be a possibility of trouble, but the steps taken near the city were simply precautionary. From an outside source, however, it was learned that there had been warnings received by the company of intended depredations between Wheeling and Elm Grove.

AN ATTACK EXPECTED.

But Col. Coit Has Provided For It—A Crisis Imminent.

MIDVALE, Omo, June 14.—The situation here to-night is becoming more critical and promises to reach a crisis. General Manager Woodford, of the C. & L. & W., has just had a conference with Colonel Coit. He has information which leads him to think an attack will be made on the Uhrichville yards or the bridges just south of here to-night. Colonel Coit will take galling guns, battery II, and Company M, and place them in the Uhrichville yard. Considerable coal moved north to-day.

Miners Return to Work.

About thirty miners went to work yesterday morning at the Mountaineer coal shaft on the terms agreed on in the settlement. No coal was hoisted yesterday, but there will be some to-day, when all the miners will be back at work. The Gondale works has also started up, with ten miners.

BUTCHERS' OFFICERS

Elected by the National Association of the United States of America Yesterday.

THE CONVENTION ENDS JOYFULLY

With an Outing at the Park and a Visit to F. Schenk & Sons' Mammoth Establishment—The Resolutions and Other Business Transacted at the Closing Session Yesterday.

The third day's session of the convention of "The National Retail Butchers' Association of the United States of America" was called to order shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Considerable routine business was transacted and the chief business was the election of officers for the year ensuing. Messrs. George Thomson, New York city; Elbert S. Adams, Norwalk, Conn.; Ira W. Stillman, Danbury, Conn., and Samuel Ochsenbein, of Wheeling, W. Va., were respectively nominated for the presidency, but they declined. D. J. Shaw, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was nominated, and on motion of President E. S. Adams, of the Connecticut Association, Secretary Brokate cast the vote of the convention for D. J. Shaw, and he was declared elected, and the announcement was received with applause.

For first vice president, Elbert S. Adams, of Norwalk, Ct., William M. Akin, Jr., of Evansville, Ind., and Gottlieb Miller, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Louis Schaefer, of St. Louis, Mo., were nominated, but all declined. On motion of Elbert S. Adams, Conrad Klingelhoefer was nominated and Secretary Brokate was instructed to cast the vote of the convention. Conrad Klingelhoefer, of Evansville, Ind., was declared elected.

For second vice president, Jacob Bloch, of New York City, nominated Fred C. Loh, of Buffalo, N. Y., and he was elected by Secretary Brokate casting the vote.

Secretary Brokate was re-elected secretary.

For treasurer, Louis Schaefer, of St. Louis, Mo., nominated Charles Noll, of St. Louis, Mo., and Secretary Brokate cast the vote electing him.

Jacob Bloch, nominated for inside guard, John L. Hogan, of Kansas City, Mo., and he was elected as the other officers.

Adolph Gardner, of Dallas, Texas, was elected outside guard. He made a fluent speech of acceptance, stating no one except those entitled would gain entrance.

On motion of William M. Akin, Jr., of Evansville, Ind., the following named gentlemen were elected trustees by the secretary casting the vote: Ira W. Stillman, Danbury, Conn.; Samuel Ochsenbein, Wheeling, W. Va., and Nicholas Lau, Burlington, Iowa.

STILLMAN'S RESOLUTION.

The following preamble and resolution drawn and presented by Ira W. Stillman, of Danbury, Conn., was unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

Standing as we do to-day within the precincts of a state made sacred by the birth of the Father of our country, surrounded by the everlasting hills whose peaks are pillow'd upon the ever-changing clouds of heaven and whose feet are washed by the waters of the Ohio, overshadowed by the wonderful blessing of the Divine, dwelling as we have for the days that have passed within the kindly limits of a city whose reception and entertainment of guests has never been surpassed, and to the citizens who have gathered to the National Retail Butchers' Association of America to render thanks to the God of heaven for his care and protection which have been over us to the full of this day, for the elaborate reception and entertainment which has been accorded to us by the officials and citizens of the city who have so kindly opened their doors and bid us so heartily welcome; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the representative retail butchers of these United States, do hereby tender to the God of heaven the gratitude of our hearts for his many mercies and guidance during our deliberations, and to our brother butchers of the city of Wheeling, the mayor and official board, and to the citizens who have so kindly received and so nobly entertained us, our heartfelt thanks for the same, and we pray that the blessing of God may ever rest upon you.

The following resolution, presented by Ira W. Stillman, of Danbury, Conn., was adopted:

Resolved, by this association, That the Butcher's Advocate, an excellent weekly periodical, and the Butcher and Packer's Magazine, of St. Louis, Mo., a worthy monthly magazine, be hereby acknowledged the official organs of the National Retail Butchers' Association of the United States of America.

On motion of Secretary Brokate, the convention decided to hold the next meeting at Buffalo, N. Y.

The convention at this point went into secret session to install officers and impart the secret work to the new members.

AN ENJOYABLE OUTING.

Schenk's Mammoth Establishment Visited, Banquet at the Park.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the visiting butchers and many other people took a special Elm Grove train and went to Fulton, where F. Schenk & Sons' mammoth abattoirs and meat curing and packing establishment was visited. Few Wheeling people have any idea of the magnitude of this plant, and the visitors were astonished.

The Butcher and Packer's Magazine certainly held high authority, says Schenk & Sons have the most extensive establishment of its kind outside of Chicago and Kansas City. Its ice plant is not surpassed even in those two cities. Such an enterprise is a credit to a community, and Wheeling ought to be proud of it.

After a tour of inspection a superb lunch was served to all by the Messrs. Schenk, and it did credit to their name. It was heartily appreciated and highly complimented.

BANQUET AND BALL.

Wheeling Park was in holiday attire last night in honor of the butchers, and it was a veritable scene in fairy land.

The different colored lights were arranged in tasteful festoons, and the scene was beautiful and entrancing, and made more so by the pleasant music in the casino and on different portions of the grounds. The Wheeling boys with their guests, wives and sweet hearts reached the park from Schenk's about 3:30 and from that time until it was time to return to the city, the event was one of enjoyment.

The banquet was served about 7 o'clock, and the long tables on the lower floor of the casino, were laden with the delicacies of the season. After full justice had been done to the good things set before them short pertinent speeches were made by his honor, Mayor Caldwell; William M. Akin, Evansville, Ind.; Ira W. Stillman, Danbury, Conn.; Elbert S. Adams, Norwalk, Conn.; C. E. Hart, New Haven, Conn.; George Thomson, New York; J. B. Rucker, New York; J. P. Dupps, Cincinnati, Ohio; Con Yager, Chicago; President D. J. Shaw, Fort Wayne, Ind.; George W. Kellogg, Hartford, Conn.; President Samuel Ochsenbein, Gus H. Medick and others of Wheeling.

After the post prandial exercises were finished an elegant and chaste cluster diamond ring was presented to Michael

F. Mullins, of Chicago, the champion beef dresser of the world, by the Wheeling association.

Mr. Mullins accepted the beautiful gift and made a neat and appropriate speech.

The floor of the casino was well filled with dancers and the eastern butchers displayed proficiency as followers of Terpsichore. The ninth annual convention in Wheeling is considered one of the most successful ever held and the Wheeling association have done themselves proud. This was the universal expression of delegates, and really it could not be otherwise, as the Wheeling Association left no stone unturned that could add anything to the success of the convention. Praise is due the efficient convention committee for their work, and especially to the admirable executive ability of the chairman, Gus H. Medick.

The next convention will be in Buffalo, N. Y., the second Tuesday of October, 1893.

MINCE MEAT.

The convention was satisfactory and harmonious in every respect.

The popular butcher supply man, Con Yager, was also in Wheeling during the convention.

Louis Schaefer, William Koehler and Charles Noll, of St. Louis, left last evening for Baltimore.

A. C. Dietric, of C. Dietric & Sons, pork packers at Pittsburgh, was in attendance at the convention for two days. John J. Duffa, of the Cincinnati Butcher Supply Company, was in attendance. John is a clever boy and has hosts of friends.

The officers of the old association were elected with the exception of one, Treasurer Louis Schaefer, of St. Louis. He positively declined.

Hereafter the sessions of the convention will be secret and the members will not be annoyed by attempted declamations by the Advocate's master and man.

The Gus V. Brecht Butcher Supply Co. have a large trade here and their popular salesmen, Harry Woodruff, H. Sparks and H. A. Born, were at the convention.

The publisher of the Butcher's Advocate and his editor now realize that butchers are capable of transacting their own business without the aid of outsiders.

John L. Hegar, Kansas City, Mo., elected inside guard, is a bright intelligent young business man, and in connection with his butcher business, does an insurance business.

The convention displayed wisdom in making the Butcher's and Packer's Magazine, of St. Louis, their official publication. It has the full confidence of the butchers and deserves the large circulation it enjoys.

The Evansville, Ind., delegation were somewhat surprised to observe how attentive "Conrad" Klingelhoefer and J. P. Gruner were to the ladies at the picnic and parks. They are such staid and good men at home.

President Samuel Ochsenbein, of the Wheeling association, was honored with the nomination to the presidency of the national association. He positively declined to accept, or Wheeling would have had the presidency a third time.

One of the striking figures on the streets during the convention, was the towering and handsome form of J. B. Rucker, salesman for Vornerberg, Hirsch & Co., New York custom dealers. He measures 6 feet 7 inches in height and is a good all-round fellow.

The new treasurer, Charles Noll, is a sterling business man and has a large market at 3587 Manchester road, St. Louis, Mo. He is a German, 45 years of age, married and has two sons and three daughters. One son 16 years of age is over six feet in height and weighs 175 pounds.

John M. Lotterle was active in the convention and does a large wholesale and retail business at 1401 Calhoun street, Louisville, Ky. His popularity is shown from the fact that he has been a member of the general council of his city for fourteen years and has been returned to the legislature five terms, or ten years. That is a good record for a butcher.

At the banquet last night the handsome gold lined silver cup presented the association one year ago by "The Gus V. Brecht Butcher Supply Company, of St. Louis, Mo.," was used by the toastmaster. It is an elegant affair of solid silver, with two figures of butchers standing on the base. It cost about $200. It is in charge of the president, and is for use at annual banquets.

THE CHILLY WEATHER.

The River Full of Ice, But the Creek Ran Out Yesterday.

Cashier Louis F. Stifel of the Title and Trust Company, was refreshing his friends yesterday with a cooling draught of this sort:

"Heard about the Island ferry?"
"What about the Island ferry?"
"Didn't you know it stopped this afternoon?"
"What's the matter with it?"
"Too much ice in the river."
And then he fled.

A South Side man stopped a newspaper friend on the corner of Fourteenth and Main and said:
"Spoke you have heard about that affair down at the ice plant?"
"What's that?"
"All the water in the pipes froze up last night."

A man "held up" a reporter on the street yesterday and said: "Is it so the ice has run out of the creek? I'm sorry about it; expected to go out to Elm Grove with a skating party to-night."

"Lots of ice on the Fourteenth street slope to-day," said an East Wheeling man when the ice wagon broke down yesterday. "Let's go round by Sixteenth street, where it isn't so slippery."

A Creditable Exhibition.

Shortly after noon yesterday an exhibition run by the fire department was given for the entertainment of the visiting butchers. The time made was good and the visitors were loud in praise of the appearance and effectiveness of the department, and especially admired the black team from North Wheeling.

The wrecked coal boats at the east pier of the Bellaire bridge are now showing above water, but the coal is not showing up to an alarming extent, the coal strike having made submarine mining profitable.
